Instructions for Use

1. Loosen the quick-release plate locking knob and remove the quick-release plate. Install the quick-release plate and attach it to the 1/4" screw hole of the device for quick installation.
2. Loosen the ball head locking knob, adjust the ball head to the desired shooting angle, and then secure it by locking the knob.
3. Loosen the panning locking knob and adjust the horizontal shooting angle of the ball head as needed. Once adjusted, lock it in place.
4. Pull out the center column locking lever to adjust the height of the center column up or down as required. After reaching the desired height, press it to lock.

5. Press the gear adjustment button to modify the expansion angle of the tripod. There are two adjustable angles: high and low.

6. Pull the leg flip lock to allow the legs to slide out freely, enabling you to quickly extend the tripod.

7. Remove the counterweight hook, loosen the center column locking lock, take out the center column, and install the end with the hook into the center column hole from the bottom to achieve inverted shooting.

8. The counterweight hook can be used to attach heavy objects, such as sandbags and backpacks, to enhance the stability of the tripod during shooting.
